

WINTER 2011 SEMINAR SERIES

Where: Alumni Science 120 (unless otherwise stated)

When: Fridays from 2:30-3:30 (unless otherwise stated)

January 14th *In Daly Science 206 Hanlee Ji, Stanford University

"The path to personalized cancer medicine: sequencing and analyzing cancer genomes"

January 21st Thane Kreiner, Santa Clara University

Center for Science, Technology & Society

"Driving social benefit for 1 billion"

January 28th Mollie K Manier, Syracuse University

"How sperm competition works in Drosophila"

February 4th Suzy C. P. Renn, Reed College

"Molecular modules of gender biased behavior in African Cichlid fishes"

February 11th Elizabeth Dahlhoff, Santa Clara University

"Biochemical adaptation in a montane insect herbivore – the role of heat shock proteins in buffering environmental change"

February 18th Thomas N. Sherratt, Carleton University

"The evolution of superstition"

February 24th *note: this is a Thursday seminar

Henry C. Lee, University of California, San Francisco

"The Apgar score as a tool in perinatal epidemiology"

March 4th Arnab Mukherjea, University of California, Berkeley

Disparities in public health