

The Civil Society Institute

invites you to hear

Fred E. Foldvary

on the topic

How Green is My Freedom?

Wednesday, April 11, 2007

5:30 P. M. – 7:00 P. M.

William Room
Benson Memorial Center
Santa Clara University

Admission is free and open to the public!

Is there a conflict between economic freedom and a clean environment? Is there a conflict between economic prosperity and a major reduction in pollution? Can we be green, free, and prosperous? Fred Foldvary will discuss whether the reductions in greenhouse gas emissions sought by environmentalists would have large economic costs and severely restrict economic freedom

Fred E. Foldvary teaches economics at Santa Clara University and is co-director of the Civil Society Institute. His main areas of research include public finance, social ethics, public choice, and the economics of real estate. His books include Public Goods and Private Communities and Dictionary of Free-Market Economics.
