Organizational Profile

The Adults with Disabilities Program of Santa Clara Unified School District offers a wide range of classes which address the needs of physically and developmentally disabled students. Independence Network, a program of the Adults with Disabilities Program focuses on developmentally disabled adults.

Independence Network offers classes in life skills for students with developmental disabilities who reside at home or at community care homes in Santa Clara County. The goals of this program are: to provide access to normal patterns of life through building social, vocational, domestic, consumer and leisure skills, to assist students in reaching maximum independence, and to provide critical life skills training in a community integrated setting.

Participants of the program attend classes with class size averaging 12-15 students. Students' ability levels vary from ambulatory to wheelchair-users and low functioning to high functioning. Classes are diverse, including all levels. Instructional activity also includes time spent in the community with teaching activities, such as how to use public transportation and the public library, and how to shop.

SCU Student's Role

SCU students who choose this placement will be working one-to-one or in small groups with students, under the supervision of the teacher and/or instructional aides. SCU students must be comfortable working with physically and developmentally disabled adults. Students will be participating in such activities as math or reading tutors and accompanying disabled students to community sites like 7-11. Participants in Independence Network, as well as SCU students may be working in the school cafeteria. Placement times will be confirmed at the Orientation.
