Organizational Profile

Downtown College Preparatory is a charter high school that opened in fall 2000 with a freshman class of 100 students. This first class graduated 55 students in June 2004 and 65 graduated in June of 2009. The school targets students who have a 2.0 GPA or below, who are performing below potential and/or will be the first generation in their family to graduate from college. By setting high standards, providing personalized attention and having an explicit focus on college success, the school prepares students to thrive at a four-year college or university. Students learn in classes with a lower student-teacher ratio and will have an extended 8-hour school day (8:30am-3:45/5pm). This schedule includes Homework Center on Mondays and Thursdays (optional for some and mandatory for others).

SCU Student's Role

SCU students will be working as a tutor in the Homework Center (Mondays or Thursdays 4-5pm) or Study Hall (Wednesdays and Fridays 8:20-9am). If SCU students have a particular strength or interest in a specific subject area (i.e. math or history), they are urged to inform the DCP staff.

SCU students should know that at every level of interaction with the students at DCP they will be looked upon as role models. At the same time, they will continue to act as undergraduate students, responsible for finding ways to learn about the perspectives, experiences and concerns of high school students.
