PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Afghan Relief 2022 - present

Founder and President

Afghan Relief provides humanitarian assistance to the most vulnerable population in Afghanistan. The focus is to provide food assistance, clean water, medical supplies, and emergency assistance to remote villages and rural communities. In addition, Afghan Relief provides empowerment, vocational training, and educational assistance to thousands of vulnerable Afghans in 15 different provinces throughout Afghanistan.

Center for Global Policy (New Lines Institute) 2015 - 2020

Founder and President

The Center for Global Policy's mission is to provide expert analysis, insight, and context to critical foreign policy issues facing our nation, with an emphasis on those issues related to U.S. relations with Muslim-majority countries. As president and Chief Executive responsible for directing the day-to-day operations of CGP, managing its staff, as well as overseeing its budget and the long-term viability of the organization. Working in coordination with the CGP board and senior staff members, develop and implement the strategic plan for the organization's activities.

Institute for Social Policy and Understanding 2002 - 2014

Founder and Director of Research

Conduct research and provide analysis on issues relating to Middle East politics. Conceive, design and implement research projects related to Muslims in the United States. The work entails research and writing for publication, organizing workshops and conferences, and engaging policy makers.

Brookings Institution 1997 - 1999

Research Associate

Researched US foreign policy towards the Middle East. Analyzed the most pressing social, political and economic issues in the Middle East. Key responsibilities included research, analysis, and editing. Advised and gave interviews to the media (CNN, BBC, Washington Post and New York Times) on US foreign policy towards the Middle East. Helped research and edit three books.

Pew Research Center 2006 - present

Researcher and Advisor

- I have served as a researcher and advisor for several Pew studies on American Muslims and Muslims globally. I also provided numerous national interviews to the press once we released the study. In my capacity as an advisor to Pew, I provide insight into all the major studies conducted by Pew on Muslims. This includes The Worlds Muslims: Religion, Politics, and Society (Washington DC: Pew Research Center, April 30, 2013), The Worlds Muslims: Unity and Diversity (Washington DC: Pew Research Center, August, 2012), Religion in Prisons (Washington DC: Pew Research Center, May, 2012 – served as advisor for the national study) Muslim Americans: Middle Class and Mostly Mainstream (Washington DC: Pew Research Center, May, 2007). I was the lead researcher that conducted the focus groups for the national study. I also provided numerous television, radio and newspaper interviews to the press once we released the study. This study was the first major national study on American Muslims and remains one of the most often cited studies in the country. It has been cited thousands of times in academic journals, books and national media sources.
