Service Opportunity: Catholic Worker Berkeley

Interested in serving the Homeless Community in Berkeley with other JST students? The Catholic Worker meets each Sunday, but on March 25 we hope more of our JST community will be present to serve our brothers and sisters! All are welcome! Please contact Mary Reilly at mreilly@scu.edu for further details!

Sunday, March 25 | 7:15am | People's Park, 2556 Haste St., Berkeley

Intercultural Understanding in the JST Community

What are some of the cultural differences and tensions that we encounter in the JST community? How are we learning from each other and growing in gaining greater intercultural understanding? We will begin our discussion during soup supper, then we will have a panel moderated by Simon Kim, JST Director of Intercultural Initiatives, who will also present some insights from his work and research in intercultural issues.

Tuesday, April 3 | 6:15pm soup supper, followed by panel and discussion | Manresa Lounge

The Rise of the "Nones": Exploring the Realities of Young People and Their Relationships with the Church

Data from Pew Research, CARA, and the Study of Youth and Religion all suggest that young people are disaffiliating from the Church in large numbers. Some studies suggest that as many as 50% of millennials describe themselves as "none" when asked about religious affiliation. In this workshop with presenter John Rinaldo, D. Min., JST Field Education Supervisor, we'll explore what the data is actually suggesting, and, more importantly, how the Church might respond to the changing mindsets of youth and young adults. Open only to JST students. RSVP with melamb@scu.edu.

Wednesday, April 4 | 10am-12pm | JST 216

Dean's Lecture, Robots Reading Theology: AI, Cultural Analytics & Machine Ethics

Mark Graves (JST alum with Ph.D. in computer science, Visiting Research Assistant Professor at the University of Notre Dame) will present on emerging autonomous technologies, including artificial intelligence and robots, and the moral attention they require. Graves will present a model of the language and topics for Thomas Aquinas's moral theology in Summa Theologica. By expanding the sources, methods, and application of that approach, further work aims to develop more complete models of human morality for scholarly investigation and machine ethics.

Tuesday, April 10 | 7pm | Gesù Chapel

Magis submission deadline

Please submit information you would like included in Friday's publication by Wednesday at noon to jstmagis@scu.edu. There will be no Magis next week due to Reading Week. Magis will resume on April 6.

“Good Friday” Program and Action at Livermore Lab

50 years after the assassination of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., gather to take up the work to put an end to what King identified as “the giant triplets of racism, materialism, and militarism.” Rev. Ben McBride of PICO California, a leader in today’s new Poor People’s Campaign, will speak. Worship at 7am, procession to gate, stations of the Cross, music by Benjamin Mertz, and Liturgical dance led by Carla DeSola. After the program, a gathering to share participants’ work and actions will take place at Asbury United Methodist Church, 4743 East Avenue, Livermore. Link to flyer here.

Barbara Green, OP, 26th Annual Reading of the Sacred Texts “Can We Do that? Reading of the Sacred Texts as They Read Us”

How –with what legitimacy, rationale, skill, and effect—can we address fresh questions to our sacred texts? With hermeneutical tenets to guide interpretation of Priam and Achilles from Homer’s Iliad, book 24, and David and God narrated in 2 Samuel 5-7 and viewed through Baroque artwork, we will engage the question of our own capacities to read such material, and how deep texts may prompt compassion in us.
