THEOCOM 18: Discerning Big Data in Light of the Gospel

THEOCOM is in its 7th year as a gathering of theologians and other scholars on the topic of digital culture and communication. This year's topic is big data and what implications it may hold for theology and ministry. Presentations and facilitated conversations will center around these questions: what is the impact of massive data accumulation on communities of faith? What key ethical issues does big data highlight? What does it mean to be human in an age of massive data accumulation? What practical ways can communities of faith benefit from big data? Register here.

Healing WELL Field Ed. Placement or Service Position

The Healing WELL is looking for a Spiritual Life Discussion Facilitator. The program runs Wednesday mornings from 10:15-11:15am, and draws from the wisdom and practices of diverse spiritual traditions. In the group, participants reflect on and discuss themes that deepen their understanding of connection to themselves and the broader community. In the past, they've read quotes from Pema Chodron, Alice Walker, Eckhart Tolle, and the Tao Te Ching. Topics have included joy as a spiritual practice, our connection to nature, and adversity. Opportunity starts May 23, but student may observe current facilitator (Joe Wotawa, SJ) in action on Wednesdays till then. For more information, contact Kit Solowy at ksolowy@healingwellsf.org, 415-500-2099. Location: 476 Eddy Street, San Francisco.
