Reflection on the U.S. Election

Professors Lisa Fullam and Bill O'Neill, SJ will facilitate conversation and reflection on the U.S. election, considering its impact in the U.S. and throughout the world, and its implications for us as a community engaged in ministerial formation and theological education for a faith that does justice. All are welcome to this discussion, as we honor our differences and discern together our response to this election.

Tuesday, November 15th | 6:45pm | Manresa Lounge

Election Decompression

In light of recent national and local level political events, emotions and tensions are running high. In partnership with the Ignite Institute at Pacific School of Religion, Impact Hub Berkeley would like to convene the impact community to decompress, heal, and meditate so that we may replenish our minds, bodies, and spirits to work towards positive social change: whatever that may look like.

We ask that you come with open arms, ears, and a much needed spirit of tenderness.

Wednesday, November 16th | 6-8pm | Impact Hub Berkeley, 2150 Allston Way #400 in Berkeley

REMINDER: EARLY REGISTRATION FOR INTERSESSION AND SPRING 2017

Early registration for both the Intercession and Spring Semester 2017 begins next Monday, November 7th. After meeting with your advisor to plan your courses, your advisor will release the "hold" on your registration. You can then register for courses through WebAdvisor. If you want to register for a course with a restriction, first email the instructor for permission to be admitted. After the instructor notifies you that you are "admitted" to the course, you will need to register for the course on WebAdvisor.

Please note: When registering on WebAdvisor (under "Student Planning") be sure to choose the section (even if there is only one being offered) for each course you want. When you are finished choosing your courses, they should appear in the color green on your schedule. If they appear as gray or yellow, then you haven't yet completed your registration.
