*The information in this document is a summary only and subject to change. Please refer to the Staff Policy Manual, Summary Plan Description, or the University's Leave Specialist with any questions or confirmation of the most current information.

Santa Clara University employees are covered by a mandatory short-term disability insurance plan for their leave of absence resulting from a non-work related serious illness or injury. Coverage under the University's short-term disability insurance is in lieu of California state disability insurance and has been approved by the California Employment Development Department. (Note that employees cannot collect disability insurance benefits from the California state disability plan unless they have waived out of the University's short-term disability insurance coverage.) The disability period is the first continuous period of absence beginning with the first day employees are eligible for benefits. There is 7-day waiting period before receiving short-term disability benefits. The maximum time an individual can collect STD benefits is one year (52 weeks). STD benefits are 60% of an individual's weekly pre-disability income up to a weekly maximum (currently the weekly maximum is $1,300)ⁱ. Note that individuals may continue to receive STD benefits even if their employment with the University ends.

Paid Family Leave (PFL)

Santa Clara University provides Paid Family Leave (PFL) to eligible employees. PFL provides 60% of base monthly earnings up to a maximum weekly benefit of $1300 for up to 6 weeks for employees who are on an approved leave of absence to care for a spouse, registered domestic partner, child or parent with a serious health condition, or to bond with a newborn child within the first year of life, or to bond with a child within the first year following adoption or foster care placement.

Long-term Disability Insurance (LTD)

Benefits-eligible Santa Clara University employees are also covered by a long-term disability insurance plan for their leave of absence resulting from a non-work related serious illness or injury that continues beyond one year. An individual may be eligible to receive LTD benefits for up to one year or until they reach the social security retirement age as long as they meet the definition of long term disability. If an individual has received STD benefits for one year and LTD benefits for an additional year, they may be eligible to receive additional LTD benefits if they are unable to perform the material duties of any occupation. LTD benefits are 66 2/3% of an individual's monthly pre-disability income up to a maximum monthly benefit of $10,000. The duration of LTD benefits is determined from a variety of factors. Note that individuals may continue to receive LTD benefits even if their employment with the University ends.

Use of Accrued Sick and/or Vacation Balance

Employees may elect to use any accrued sick and vacation leave accruals to supplement any STD benefits in order to keep their income at pre-leave earnings for as long as possible, though employees are not required to do so. If an employee chooses to supplement STD benefits with accrued sick and vacation leave balances the University will first utilize any accrued sick leave. Once the sick leave balance is exhausted to the nearest hour, then any accrued vacation will be utilized and exhausted to the nearest hour, to keep the individual at their pre-leave earnings for as long as possible during their leave. Please note that sick and vacation accruals of less than one
